

Position Title: Business Development Assistant
Part Time, Independent Contractor
Location(s): Florence, Milan & Rome ITALY
Compensation: Performance Based
Application Deadline Phase 1: August 20, 2010
Application Deadline Phase 2: September 20, 2010
Language Requirements- English. Other EU languages are a plus

---

SnoworSand is a fast growing Los Angeles-based tour operator that specializes in cultural and adventure travel to international destinations.

We are seeking driven University students and young professionals to assist with our on-the-ground-marketing efforts throughout Italy.

The ideal candidate has the following attributes:

- Has an understanding of the marketing and promotions in the city
- Knows the 'hot spots' where international students congregate
- Has past experience in marketing, promotions and branding
- Is characterized as friendly, honest and outgoing
- Makes friends easily and is seen as a leader in their peer group
- Is not afraid to approach a group of new people and befriend them
- Persuasive and good at being a social mover and shaker, while maintaining a clean cut and honest persona that is in line with SnoworSand's culture and branding

The key goal of this position is to promote SnoworSand's trips in a tactful and effective way, leading to sales.

Compensation

- For every person that travels with SnoworSand based upon your efforts, you will receive a commission. Ambitious Business Development Assistants can earn €400-€800/ month or more.
- Additional perks include the ability to travel to our destinations at cost or for free.
- A select number of Business Development Assistants will be considered for more permanent roles within our Management team.

If this position is of interest to you, please send a photo, phone number and personal statement describing why you would be a good fit working with SnoworSand in this position to info@SnoworSand.com. Please also include your name and city (Florence, Milan or Rome) in the subject line of the email. Selected candidates will be contacted within one week of their application submission. Thank you for your interest and best of luck!